Universal Aviation Introduces Public to Fast Growing Dublin Facility

Houston, TX (Oct. 19, 2006) – Universal Aviation recently introduced its Dublin facility, the company's second in Ireland, to a gathering of corporate executives, local officials and media representatives at a well-attended reception at Cloghran House, Dublin International Airport.

Universal Aviation in Dublin – a member of the UVglobal Network[®] - strengthens Universal Weather and Aviation, Inc.'s regional presence, complements the company's Shannon location, and significantly increases support for corporate aviation travel into and out of Ireland.

"Corporate air traffic through Dublin has grown to around 8,000 flights annually. It's a tremendous volume, and our Dublin location is strategically placed to ensure that present and future clients can take advantage of this superior handling service, which they both need and deserve," said Brendan O'Grady, Managing Director, Universal Aviation.

"Our flight traffic has steadily increased since we opened, two fixed base operators have moved their entire operations across to us, and one of our Dublin airport officials recently said the arrival of Universal[®] in Dublin is 'like a breath of fresh air.' We are tremendously pleased with the facility's progress," O'Grady affirmed.

Located next to the Great Southern Hotel at Dublin Airport, the new location is a comfortable distance from the busy commercial terminal area with fast ramp access from the security gates. It offers a secure, modern building; expert corporate handling by experienced staff; and a full complement of amenities, including lounges, crew and passenger airside and hotel transport, rental cars, limousines and custom catering.

"Dublin is a major European capital and a high-traffic location where we can provide clients with the best possible support," said Jonathan Howells, Regional Director of Europe, Middle East and Africa. "Ireland's phenomenal economic growth means this traffic will be growing sharply, and Universal is committed to providing world-class service to this expanding market."

UVglobal Network[®] members have ground-handling facilities located in more than 50 countries. All members adhere to stringent standards that bring a level of consistency and quality service to aircraft operators traveling internationally.
