Houston (May 15, 2007) – Universal Weather and Aviation, Inc. will showcase its customized solutions for Europe-based operators at the Seventh Annual European Business Aviation Convention & Exhibition (EBACE2007) in Geneva, May 22-24.

“Universal[®] provides Europe-based operators with a number of ways in which we can help them achieve successful trips, whether they are traveling within Europe or throughout the world,” said Justine Finnett, Senior Vice President, Sales and Marketing. “Whatever option they choose, Universal[®] has a solution.”

Universal’s comprehensive display, Exhibit #1420, will showcase the company’s ever-expanding European presence and growing suite of online tools under the theme “To support Europe-based operators, we start with a European base.” The exhibit will provide information on Universal’s regional trip support capabilities through the London-based European Operations Centre (EOC) (operated by Universal Aviation (UK) Ltd.) and its UVglobal Network[®] offices, which provide ground handling support throughout Europe and the world. Europe-based operators can also find acceptance and savings on fuel through the UVair[®] fuel program. And Universal’s suite of online tools, such as the new editions of UVTripPlannersm, help keep clients connected, no matter where they fly.

Interactive demonstrations of Universal’s new Online and Electronic Flight Bag editions of the comprehensive trip reference tool UVTripPlannersm will be available, as well as the scheduling software UVflightplanner.comsm and the company’s online weather tools. Other information available at the exhibit includes:

- Information stations for specifics on new UVglobal Network[®] locations in Aruba; Beirut, Lebanon; and Dubai, United Arab Emirates
- Updates on the EOC and the recently opened Middle East Operations Centre
- Information on acceptance and savings throughout Europe and the world with the UVair[®] Fueling Card, which is accepted in more than 1,750 locations worldwide

Members of the media are invited to attend a Universal[®] Press Conference to learn more about these and other Universal[®] services Monday, May 21, 2007 at 11:00 a.m. in Room 3.
